Course Overview:

Rural sociology has long been an important subfield of the general discipline of sociology. Although sociology generally focuses on modern society, and thus urbanization and urban areas, these could not exist without rural areas. Rural sociologists study the connections between rural and urban areas, as well as characteristics of rural people. In this course we will study the state of social conditions in rural America, focusing on social relations and social institutions. We will pay particular attention to economic conditions, and structural transformations in agriculture, an important rural industry. We also will focus on community in the rural South. You will engage the course material through readings, class discussions, and practical projects.

Readings:

David L. Brown and Louis E. Swanson. 2003. Challenges for Rural America in the Twenty-First Century. University Park, PA: The Pennsylvania State University Press. (ISBN: 0-271-02242-6).

Thomas A. Lyson. 2004. Civic Agriculture: Reconnecting Farm, Food and Community. Lebanon, NH: University Press of New England/Tufts University Press. (ISBN: 1-58465-414-7).

William W. Falk. 2004. Rooted in Place: Family and Belonging in a Southern Black Community. Piscataway, NJ: Rutgers University Press. (ISBN: 0-8135-3465-8).

The books are available at the university bookstore. You should purchase the books or otherwise arrange to complete all of the reading assignments. There will also be occasional handouts to supplement the books.

Course Organization and Approach:

This course uses a participatory, learner-centered, adult education approach. An adult education approach recognizes that you are responsible for your own learning. The professor can only provide opportunities to learn, but cannot force you to learn. You are expected to work hard in this course, meaning that for every hour of class time, you should spend at least three hours outside of class preparing by doing readings, assignments, studying for quizzes and exams, and thinking about the course material.

You are expected to take responsibility for the success of the course, that is, you should take an active interest not just in the course material, but in the course itself, making it a success for all participants. Factors such as interest, motivation, creativity, and initiative are important elements in evaluating your performance and assigning a grade.

Course material is presented in several formats, including class discussions, readings, and practical exercises. Readings on current issues in rural sociology are presented in the assigned chapters in the book Challenges for Rural America in the Twenty-first Century by David Brown and Lou Swanson, and in several assigned articles. Two other books present specific topics pertaining to rural areas. Civic Agriculture, by Tom Lyson, traces the history of economic restructuring in agriculture in a global system, and presents alternative approaches to community development for rural areas. Rooted in Place, by William Falk, illustrates the idea of community in rural areas, focusing on one African American family in the rural South.

Learning Opportunities:

You must complete the following assignments:

(1) Engagement in Class Discussions (20 points)

- You are expected to do all of the assigned readings and attend all class sessions
- You are expected to engage in classroom discussions, reflecting on the topic and readings
- The quality of contributions to class discussions is more important than the quantity of contributions
- Participation in class discussions is not graded based on whether it is “right” or “wrong;” rather, you are expected to engage the material critically, and demonstrate an understanding and ability to apply the course material in productive ways

(2) Current Topics in Rural America Discussion Leader (20 points)

- You will lead one 15-minute discussion on topics of current interest pertaining to rural America
- First, select a recent article from a newspaper that presents a topic of interest to rural residents
- One week before your discussion, distribute a copy of your article to other class members, and submit a copy to the instructor
- During your presentation, present a short summary of the article to the class, focusing on the social or policy issue
- Facilitate a class discussion on the topic, encouraging participation by all members of the class
- Your responsibility is get class members talking about the social and policy issues, using the article as an example

(3) Engaging the Literature in Rural Sociology (30 points)

- From the list linked below, select a topic and associated journal articles
- Prepare and submit a five-page review paper on the topic of these articles, due April 24
- The papers should be typed, 10 or 12 point font, 1 inch margins, double spaced
- On April 24, you will teach a 45-minute class session on the topic of your articles and paper
- You are expected to do your own work on this assignment – see the Course Policy on Plagiarism and Cheating, linked from the course homepage. This policy will be enforced with no exceptions. For more information, see the Delta State Library's Guide to Plagiarism Prevention, at <http://www.deltastate.edu/pages/1268.asp>.

(4) Mid-term Exam (15 points)

- The mid-term exam will be given on February 27
- The exam consists of 30 multiple choice, true-false, and matching terms questions, each worth 0.5 points
- The exam covers the course material presented since the beginning of the semester, including readings and discussions

(5) Final Exam (15 points)

- The final exam will be given at the regularly scheduled time
- The exam uses the same format and scoring as the mid-term exam
- The exam covers course material since the mid-term exam

(6) Engagement (+/- 10 points)

- A total of 10 points may be added or subtracted from your final grade to reflect the degree of engagement in the course that you exhibit
- Engaged students demonstrate qualities such as motivation, extra effort, interest in the course material, improvement over the course of the semester and leadership.
- Lack of engagement is manifested by frequent absences, talking with others or dozing off in class, lack of interest in the course material, lack of preparation, and lack of participation in course activities.

Grading:

There are a total of 100 points available for the semester. Your final score is simply the sum of all points earned over the semester. If you accumulate 90 or more points over the course of the semester, you will get an "A" in the course. If you accumulate 80 to 89 points, you will get a "B," for 70 to 79 points you will get a "C," and for 60 to 69 points will get a "D." If you get less than 60 points, your final grade will be an "F." Note that you start with zero and earn points; you do not start with 100 and lose points.

If you comply with all course requirements and submit all of the assignments satisfactorily and on time, you can expect a "C" in this course. To receive a higher grade, you must demonstrate a superior grasp of course material and an ability to apply the material in productive ways. It is also helpful to show an interest in the course material and in learning, a professional approach to your studies, and an achievement-based orientation.

Policies and Expectations:

Responsibility:

YOU are responsible for learning the course material and for your progress in the course. You are expected to attend class regularly and complete all of the assignments. You are expected to know all material presented during class sessions, whether you attended the class or not. If you miss a class session, you should check with another student to see what you missed. “I didn’t know” is NEVER a valid excuse. If you don’t know something, it is your job to find out.

Learning Opportunities:

You are responsible for completing all of the assigned work in this course in a timely fashion. Assigned work is designed to provide you with learning opportunities, and all work is due at the time specified; no late assignments will be accepted, and missed assignments cannot be made up. If you miss class or an assignment, you are making a choice that prioritizes other activities above the class, and you will receive a grade of zero for any assignment that you fail to turn in.

ALL work that you submit (except in-class work) should be typed/word processed. If you submit a paper with more than one sheet, please attach all sheets with a staple or paper clip BEFORE you bring the assignment to class to turn in. The instructor will NOT ACCEPT work that is handwritten or that has multiple pages that are not attached with a staple or paper clip.

Absences:

You are expected to attend all class sessions and activities. Please make sure that you sign the roll sheet at each class meeting, as this will serve as official documentation of your attendance. If you miss class, you must document your absence, or points will be deducted from your grade (See the information on grading attendance). Please notify the instructor IN ADVANCE if you must miss class. It is in your interest to provide the instructor with written notification (e.g. a note or e-mail) to document any missed classes. It is risky simply to tell the instructor and expect him to remember.

Illnesses and Emergencies: Illnesses and emergencies MUST be documented with a note from a doctor or other professional. You should bring the note to the next class meeting and submit it to the instructor. Illnesses and emergencies pertain only to the student, not to the student’s family, friends or others.

University Activities: If you must miss class for an official university activity, you should make arrangements with the instructor BEFORE the missed class. Appropriate documentation is required.

Making Up Missed Work: If you miss an exam or other assignment due to a documented illness, emergency or official university activity, a make up will be given at the end of the semester. The make-up exam will be an oral exam with the instructor, in which you will be required to respond to a series of questions

You are responsible for all material presented in all classes, even during an excused absence. You should get class notes from another student for all class sessions you miss.

Class Participation:

Class participation is an important element in this course. The purpose of class discussions is to provide you with an opportunity to practice thinking skills in a safe environment. In discussions, you are encouraged to explore ideas presented in the readings and lectures, to think about and apply concepts, and to develop arguments and evaluate evidence.

If you repeatedly engage in disruptive behaviors during class discussions, you will be asked to leave the classroom.

- You must demonstrate appropriate respect for the opinions and ideas of other students during class discussions. It is acceptable (and encouraged) to disagree with the perspectives of other students or the instructor, but you should phrase this to show disagreement with the idea or opinion, not with the person presenting the idea or opinion. If you repeatedly show disrespect for other class members, you will be asked to leave the classroom.
- Class discussions are NOT a time to chat with other students about topics not related to the course. Talking privately with other students while the rest of the class is trying to carry on a discussion is disruptive, bothersome, and disrespectful to other students and to the professor. If you repeatedly speak when you do not have the floor, you will be asked to leave the classroom.
- Class is NOT a time to catch up on your sleep. If you are not prepared to stay awake and participate in class discussions and other activities, you should not come to class. If you continually fall asleep during class sessions, you will be asked to leave the classroom.

If you are asked to leave the classroom for disruptive or disrespectful behavior, you cannot make up any work that you miss as a result.

Electronic Devices (Cell Phones, Pagers, etc.):

Please make sure that all cell phones, pagers, and similar electronic devices are turned off during class time. If your phone or pager repeatedly interrupts class, you will be asked to leave the classroom.

DO NOT bring cell phones or other portable communication devices to class during quizzes, exams, or in-class assignments. If the instructor sees a cell phone or other device during a quiz, exam or in-class assignment, you will receive a grade of zero on the quiz, exam or in-class assignment, and you will be asked to leave the classroom.

If you must have a cell phone or pager (e.g. if you are a volunteer fireman or emergency responder), you MUST make arrangements with the instructor in advance.

Academic Honesty:

You are expected to comply with all academic standards and ethics as defined in the DSU Bulletin and Handbook. You are expected to do your own work in this course. Plagiarism and other forms of cheating will NOT be tolerated.

You should be fully aware of the Course Policy on Plagiarism and Cheating, which can be viewed from the course website. If you are suspected of cheating in this course, your case will be assigned to the Division of Social Sciences Academic Honesty and Ethics Committee. The minimum sanction for a first offense will be a 10 point deduction or a zero on the assignment, whichever is greater. Repeat offenses will result in stiffer sanctions, including dismissal from the course with a grade of "F." In addition, a report will be filed with the Chair of the Division of Social Sciences, the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, and DSU's Vice President for Academic Affairs.

IT IS YOUR RESPONSIBILITY TO UNDERSTAND THESE GUIDELINES. Make sure you know what constitutes plagiarism and cheating BEFORE turning in any assignments. Once you turn in an assignment, you are representing it as your own work. If you are suspected of committing plagiarism, pleas of "I didn't know what plagiarism was" will not be accepted.

If you are not sure what constitutes plagiarism, see the DSU Library's "Plagiarism Prevention: A Guide for Students," at <<http://www.deltastate.edu/pages/1268.asp>>. The Course Policy on Plagiarism and Cheating also outlines examples of plagiarism. If it is still unclear, see the instructor.

Special Accommodations:

Appropriate accommodations will be made for students with medical problems or diagnosed disabilities. Have Dr. Richard Houston at Reily Student Health Center (846-4690) contact the course instructor to make arrangements.
